ALUMNI SPOTLIGHT

TIM CALHOUN (1984)

Tim Calhoun (1984) is a studio musician and teaches commercial guitar at Trevecca Nazarene University located in the heart of Nashville, Tennessee. Tim and his wife Amy (Baughman) Calhoun (1985) of 30 years, and their two sons Christian and Ethan, presently live in Nashville.

After graduating from EAHS in 1984, Tim attended the University of Miami in Coral Gables, Florida as a Studio Music and Jazz Guitar major. He found that environment extremely challenging and rewarding. Toward the end of his sophomore year he had gained enough skill to allow his professors and upperclassmen to recommend him for work outside the university.

Tim landed a five-night-a-week house gig (job) in one of the hottest clubs in south Florida called Charcoals. It was packed every night, Tuesday through Saturday. Tim continued playing that job through his senior year. During this time, Tim also started his first of many adventures as a session musician. His first session in Miami was playing for a Tropicana Orange Juice commercial at the infamous Criteria Recording Studio built by The Bee Gees. An interesting side note here - If you look at the EAHS 1984 yearbook, you will see that Tim's career goal was "studio musician."

In 1988 he married his high school sweetheart Amy and they lived in Miami for several more

LAVERNE JOHNSON FOOR CELEBRATES HER 100TH

Written by Daughter Diana Pryor

LaVerne Johnson Foor celebrated her 100th birthday on December 29th. Over seventy family members and friends coming from six states attended the celebration.

Following her graduation from Everett High School in 1939, LaVerne went to work at Lion Manufacturing in Everett. She waited for her high school sweetheart, Albert Foor, to return from World War II. After the war they were married in Winchester, VA. LaVerne and Albert were inseparable for 67 years until his passing in 2013. They have two daughters, Diana and Denise, five grandchildren, and two great grandsons

LaVerne is a member of the Everett Church of the Brethren and the Saxton Chapter #161 Order of the Eastern Star. When she was younger, LaVerne enjoyed baking for church events as well as helping with meals and other activities at the church.

LaVerne has always had a remarkable work ethic but managed to put family first. She has been and continues to be a wonderful role model for all who know her. Her greatest joy in life is receiving visits and phone calls from family and friends.

years as Tim continued to work as a musician playing for such artists as Jon Secada, The Temptations, Bo Diddley, and he also worked with many members of Gloria Estefan and the Miami Sound Machine.

In 1991 they moved to the New York/New Jersey area, where Tim started to do a lot more studio work as well as writing and producing. Odds are you have heard Tim play many times through the years but didn't know it. His talents can be heard on TV commercials such as Coke, Six Flags, Macy's,

WE CARE ROOM

Tricia Zimmerman Beidle (1989)

As educators, we're always looking for ways to do things that help our students. As a student council advisor, I meet regularly with Mrs. Criswell, the middle school principal, to discuss things that we can do to encourage, motivate, and help our students be successful. About three years ago, we were finding that students who were struggling often had more basic needs that weren't being met, which then led to them struggling in school. We found that some students didn't have warm clothes, or enough food for the weekend. When you're hungry or cold, it is difficult to focus on academics in school. Over 60% of our students are eligible for Free or Reduced Lunch at the middle and high school levels.

Out of this came the We Care Room. In the room, we stock basic necessities, food, clothing, toiletry items such as shampoo and soap, sheets and blankets, etc. We don't necessarily have homeless kids in the traditional sense of homelessness, but we have many kids whose families have been displaced and are staying on a friend or family member's couch, or living in a hotel room. We want to make sure we can attempt to meet their basic needs.

We have grown the room and serve as a place where kids can go for things they might need in a quiet and confidential atmosphere of help. The response from students has been positive, both from students using things from the room and from students who have volunteered to sort and stock supplies.

We can always use food items - things that can be microwaved or are ready to eat (but don't need refrigerated). Things that could be made with just a microwave - people may not have a stove or fridge. Also toiletries like deodorant and soap, toothbrushes, toothpaste and hair brushes.

Kroger, TBS, CNN and the Weather Channel, just to name a few. Also, his production was used for the TV show One Tree Hill and the movie Drive me Crazy (from a record he produced by the Electric Farm).

A relationship that he developed with Turner Broadcasting landed him a job in Nashville in 1996 for five days. During this trip the whole rhythm section went for breakfast at the Loveless Cafe, a landmark in Nashville and a must-see for anyone visiting Nashville. That morning after breakfast, Tim called Amy and told her how amazing Nashville was and that just 25 minutes outside the city the area reminded him of Everett, very rural and beautiful. After a brief conversation with Amy, they decided to make Nashville their new home and moved there in 1997.

Not knowing how to find work in the new city, Tim called a former professor as well as friend Lari White to ask "who do we know in Nashville?" Lari was a fairly big country music star at the time and had sat next to Tim in ear-training class at the university. Between the two, he was able to make new contacts and start work in a very short time. Tim recalls that his first gig in Nashville was playing behind Ronnie Milsap and Olivia Newton John at a CD-release party. Olivia had just completed a country CD named Country Girl. Over the last 20-plus years in Nashville, Tim has continued to work in the studio and has shared the stage or recorded with artists such as Trisha Yearwood, Jo Dee Messina, Phil Keaggy, Nelson Rangell, Melinda Doolittle, Jo-El Sonnier, Ronnie McDowell, Jeremy Camp, Raul Malo (of the Mavericks), Kathy Troccoli, and Mylon Lefevre.

In 2000, after 12 years of marriage, their first child Christian was born and five years later, their youngest son, Ethan, arrived. Christian is a freshman in college and Ethan is in 8th grade this year. The whole family is very active in their church, the Grace Chapel in Leiper's Fork Tennessee, where Tim serves on the worship team. At the time of this writing, their oldest son is on a mission trip to Mexico. Tim made it very clear that any success as a musician that he has had, or any good thing in his life, is solely the result of God's love and nothing more. He continued, "I know now that after almost 40 years of playing that God planted the love of music to save me and to open my heart. I know now that my wife and her family (Connie, Randy, Aaron, Nana) made me whole again and our boys completed this blessing".

"4 MILES (FROM BLOODY RUN)"

The following is a link to a song that Tim wrote and sang at his father's funeral in May of 2017:

<https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=yALsLznWUTC>

It's sung from his dad's (Palmer Calhoun) perspective and is the story of his life, home town and the farm where he grew up. He left the farm at 17 and sailed the world in the merchant marines, returned home to raise a family and would never leave again. Even when he started to fail and Tim wanted him to move to Nashville, he simply could not.

Bloody Run was the original name for Everett. The mile marker that is in the video sits on the farm and tells the distance to Bloody Run. It's the only one in existence of the original 8. Thus the name of the song, "4 miles (from Bloody Run)".

Tim thanks all his friends who helped him make this happen by lending him their amazing talents; Jeff E Cox, Anthony Morra, Ryan Sutton & Danny Borgers.

JOHN STANLEY by Patricia Brown Morgart (1958)

John Stanley, Class of 1950, shares this interesting bit of his family history. John's father, Oscar Lee Stanley Sr., and another worker discovered two very old cannonballs as they were laboring in the Juniata Crossings area east of Everett back in 1936. John doesn't know who the other man was but it is assumed that each of them took one of the 7 pound cannonballs home. Oscar's became a family heirloom.

According to an historic marker along Route 30, that area was the site of Fort Juniata, a small stockade erected by General John Forbes, circa 1758. It was built to protect the communications of his army moving west to attack Fort Duquesne,

After a two year stint in the Army, John became a postman in Everett. He first delivered mail in the Borough and then on RD 2 for 38 years covering around 60 miles per day.

BILL WAKEFIELD by Patricia Brown Morgart (1958)

Bill Wakefield of Ocean Isle Beach, NC was presented with a "Quilt of Valor" by the National Organization of the same name in October, 2018. The "Quilt" recognized him for his service in Vietnam and took over 100 hours of sewing by two ladies from the community. Bill served two tours there, one during 1968-69 and the other 1971-72. Bill saw much combat action and as a result of his service, he was awarded 4 Bronze Stars, the Vietnamese Cross of Gallantry w/ palm, another Vietnamese Cross of Gallantry, the Meritorious Service Medal, 2 Air Medals, and 2 Army Commendation Medals among other Vietnam Service Medals. Bill said he felt highly honored by the presentation of the "Quilt of Valor" by the National Organization and his community. "It is a Quilt I'll always cherish." Bill graduated from Everett High School with the Class of 1958

NEW WEIGHT ROOM IN DEDICATION TO FORMER STUDENT, TEACHER AND COACH, TOM WALTMAN

With 27 years of teaching in the Physical Education Department, as well as coaching exceeding 30 years, Tom Waltman has made an impact on many young lives through the years. The Everett School District leadership and School Board are seeking this opportunity to recognize Tom's service to the District by dedicating a State of Art Weight Room Facility in his memory. The weight room will be located in the former shop area of the high school. For those who knew Tom well, this had been a desire of Tom's to see a facility that would not only enhance our athletes' training, but accommodate all students through the physical education department. Tom was a supporter of all athletic events, whether attending events, encouraging the student athletes or continually coaching/teaching.

With this dedication, we want to make this a community event that will allow those who can reflect on what it meant to be part of a team through the losses and wins, to share in giving back for the next generation(s) of young students and athletes, our children and grandchildren. This is not only a dedication for Tom but for what this represents, saying a special thank you to those teachers and coaches whose contributions are made one child at a time.

Tom loved his family and was passionate about his community. May his passion for life be a role model for others to follow. Everett High so true how we all love you! Go Warriors!

If you would like to make a donation towards the new weight room, in dedication to the memory of Tom Waltman, please remit any donations to Steven Foor at the district office made payable to EASD Weight Room. Donations can also be sent to the Everett Alumni Association and we'll get it to the district office. If you would like to offer time, labor or material, please contact Sharon Waltman or Brian Koontz.
